Elegant Window Display.

A. J. Wagner & Co's. show windows have been rearranged with an elegant display of Spring's prettiest offerings, and are temptingly beautiful.

No dry goods house in the state can boast of a more elegant variety of attraction and seasonable goods, and the artistic arrangement is perfect. Mr. Roland Walker, the expert dry goods man and window dresser for A. J. Wagner & Co. is the artist whose skill has converted the window and also the interior of the store into such a scene of loveliness.

The blending of colors and the combination of rich materials is harmonious and inviting, and the beautiful quality of the material used is plainly evident and adds an interesting charm to the window. The figures are becomingly dressed in ready-made messaline suits with pretty stylish hats—for which Wagner & Co. are famous—to match. Elegant silks in lavender—old rose, green, pink and champagne shades are shown, and with every shade is to be seen the dainty hose, gloves, ribbons, and even the richly embroidered belts in the same color, to complete the elegant toilette.

Ready to wear net waists, and the quaintly tucked muslins, which are strictly a mark of this season, are on display, and there is also the tucked nets in cream, white, and dainty colors to be made into waists and evening dresses. All these petty accessories are admired mostly by the ladies, but the men have not been forgotten, for a whole big window is devoted exclusively to a display of the "correct" styles for men and boys.

Spring suits in beautiful weaves and strictly tailored cuts, fancy vests, ties, hats, shoes and collars are artistically arranged, and are commanding quite a deal of attention. A. J. Wagner & Co's. windows are equal to any to be seen in the big cities and are indeed a credit to Bryan.

SMALLPOX QUARANTINE.
 State Health Officer Brumby Has Adjusted the Matter.
 Austin, March 15.—State Health Officer Brumby has returned from Falfurrias, where he straightened out the smallpox quarantine muddle. He said the county health officer of Starr county, in which Falfurrias is situated, had quarantined the entire town instead of merely quarantining the cases of smallpox. He ordered the quarantine raised and will have the patients with the disease quarantined.
 The action of the county health officer caused telegrams to pour into the health department from railroads and persons all over that section.

Upheaval Will Result.
 St. Louis, March 15.—An upheaval in Texas traffic will break out as the result of the Katy putting into effect higher rates from the Gulf of Texas points than to Oklahoma. Shippers at various Texas cities wired the traffic manager of the Katy that if the road refused to grant the concession shippers threaten to appeal to the Texas railroad commission.

Final Hearing Next Week.
 Austin, March 15.—Final hearing before the interstate commerce commission, in which Texas stockmen seek a reduction of 30 per cent on cattle shipments, will be heard here next week. S. H. Cowan of Fort Worth represents the cattlemen. The railroads will send an array of counsel. The reduction would save Texas cattlemen $1,600,000.

"HELL."
 Dr. T. H. Morris Delivered Stirring Sermon at Methodist Church Sunday Night on Hell.
 Dr. Morris, pastor of the First Methodist church, announced "Hell" as the subject for his Sunday night discourse and notwithstanding the very cold night, quite a large congregation was present to hear him.
 Dr. Morris chose for his text the 23rd verse of the 16th chapter of Luke: "And in hell he lifted up his eyes, being in torments, and seeth Abraham afar off and Lazarus in his bosom."
 He laid down the proposition that there is a hell, a place of punishment for the finally impenitent. He said he knew the word hell was not a polite word for the modern sinner, but no man preached the full gospel who withheld any part of it.
 Hell was a place of intense suffering, of darkness, of wailing and gnashing of teeth. It had been likened unto fire—a lake of fire and brimstone. Hell was not only a place, but a state. Men and women get to the place where they love sin and hate righteousness, and the shouts of joy and praise that will come from within the pearly gates will be their greatest misery.
 He had been asked if he believed hell was a lake of burning fire. He did not know, but was sure it typified a place of great suffering. There could be no comfort drawn from the argument that the burning lake was only a figure, because if it were, then the reality was so terrible that nothing else could represent it, and that which it typifies cannot be less than the figure.
 For whom was hell prepared? The scriptures say "for the devil and his angels," but if God spared not His own, the angels who rebelled, then how can we hope to escape if we rebel.
 Hell is prepared for them whose names are not written in the book. And the reason that the names of any are not in the book, is of their own choosing. Men and women stand at the parting of the ways and of their own choice deliberately walk down to eternal death.
 The closing thought was how long shall hell endure, and the description of eternity, its boundlessness, its vastness when considered by the finite mind, was touchingly beautiful and grand, and deeply moved all who were present.

IN DISTRICT COURT.
 Pleas of Guilty Came Thick and Fast. Twenty years for One Negro.
 The third week of the district court convened yesterday morning with Judge J. C. Scott presiding.
 The jury for the week was empaneled as follows:
 J. I. Barron, A. D. Lock, A. P. Buchanan, A. J. Conway, W. F. Terry, H. P. Dansby, B. S. Todd, Albert Schultz, J. B. Neely, C. H. Dyas, W. H. Burt, Ed S. Darden, W. R. Ball, Frank Nichols, J. D. Grehan, J. S. Byars, W. F. Gibbs, J. H. Blume, Gus Hinz, N. Jametta, W. O. Hearne, J. R. Edmonds, W. L. Powers, Jr., E. F. Parks, A. J. Tabor, Jr., W. J. Lawless, T. B. Smith, H. O. Boatwright, W. H. Cole, G. A. Carroll, Frank Konecny, C. G. Walker.
 It was plea of guilty day and they came thick and fast. The following cases were disposed of:
 Richard Boone, colored, who was indicted by the recent Grand jury for forgery in twenty cases, plead guilty in ten of them and was given two years in each, making his term even twenty years. The other ten indictments were dismissed by the State's attorney.
 George Farris, colored, plead guilty to assault on murder, and drew seven years.
 Elijah Robinson, colored, charged with assault to murder, plead guilty to aggravated assault and was fined $25.00 and costs.
 John Bowen, colored, plead guilty to burglary in two cases, and was given two years in each case. He waived time and asked that sentence be passed at once so that his time would begin without delay and the court complied with his request.
 Thomas Young, colored, plead guilty to burglary and was given two years.
From Willow Hole.
 We had a good rain Saturday.
 Rev. John Swanwick preached here Friday night.
 Corn is growing nicely.
 For some unaccountable reason the fish are dying in great numbers in the railroad reservoir.
 The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Bryant sympathize with them in the loss of their two months old baby which died Friday evening, and was buried Saturday evening at the Willowhole cemetery. Rev. T. A. Searcy conducting the services.
 The Plainview Quarterly Meeting which was under preparation for the latter part of last week was completely rained out, and was postponed until the second Sunday in June.
 Mr. Edward Covey and Miss Rena Nevil were united in the holy bonds of matrimony at the bride's home near Cross last Sunday evening. Rev. D. C. Hargroves officiating. The young people are of the brightest of the Cross community, and are held in high esteem by their many friends who extend hearty congratulations.
CORRESPONDENT.
Flowers and Foliage.
 There is a real joy and pleasure to ladies in trimming their own hats. They delight to try this style and that and see which is the most becoming. In ready trimmed hats they must take what they find; not so when they trim them themselves. If this style does not suit their fancy they can change it again and again until they perfectly what they want. This pleasure is greatly enhanced if they have suitable material for trimming. Coulter has a perfectly grand line of every color, shade and variety of flowers and foliage for trimming. Also every variety of ribbon, buckles, ornaments and other accessories used in trimming. Don't fail to see them.
